TAHITI BEAUTY IN 'FRISCO ON LOVER'S QUEST

A romance in which an alleged descendant of Hawaiian royalty is involved has been discovered and written up by the San Francisco Examiner as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Madame Leona Chapman, owner of the Hotel Tiare and vast cocoanut groves on the island of Tahiti, a descendant of the royal family of Hawaii, arrived from Tahiti yesterday on the Union liner Tahiti.

She was accompanied by her two daughters, Freda Gooding, eighteen years old, and Dora Gooding, fifteen years old. Both girls are beauties and as popular in their native city of Papeete as the delicate white petaled tiare, the national flower of their land.

Miss Dora, like her sister, is an accomplished musician. She has come to the United States to attend Notre Dame convent in Alameda, where she will remain until she is eighteen. Miss Freda and her mother are en route to Los Angeles, where they will visit with Mrs. A. Lachman in South Grand Avenue.

Although Miss Freda said that she would return to the South Seas after a few months in Southern California, the younger sister confided that a romance was responsible for the trip of her mother and sister.

It seems that the son of a wealthy Los Angeles family has expressed his desire to make Miss Freda his wife. The identity of the young man is withheld, until Madame investigates and is satisfied that he will make a desirable husband for her daughter.

In addition, it is said that the girl has had so many romances that she herself is not certain that she will wed her suitor even if the mother approves.

When Miss Freda paid a visit to California eight years ago she met the boy from Los Angeles. This childhood friendship was forgotten when the girl went to Honolulu to receive her education.

About two years ago before leaving the Hawaiian city, the girl became engaged to the son of a wealthy planter named Reis, but when Madame Chapman took her daughter back to Papeete the affair was declared off.

Scarcely had Miss Freda arrived home when Henri Bonet, general manager of the French phosphate interests of the South Seas, became a suitor and an engagement was announced.

When Bonet journeyed to Paris just before the old Mariposa discontinued its run between San Francisco and Tahiti, he intimated that he would be accompanied by a wife the next time he passed through the city.

But it is said that shortly after Bonet arrived in Paris he received a mail package from Tahiti containing a "mitten."

In the meantime the young man from Los Angeles had grown into manhood. Following his graduation from the State University he went on an extensive tour which was not to terminate until he had traveled around the world.

Starting from San Francisco, he went as far as Tahiti, where with other tourists he stopped at the Hotel Tiare, and shortly after came face to face with his playmate of the past.

The trip around the world terminated then and there.

The young people were constantly together until it was time for the young man to return to Los Angeles.

"I cannot say there is an engagement," Madame Chapman said. "It is true that the young man acted as if he was greatly attached to Freda, but I am not certain that he has asked her to be his wife."

Acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty-cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.
